Dear niece & nephews
Louise & Fannie

I found dear Aunt Mary's letter here, on arriving, yesterday A.M. - telling what jolly times you had with your presents from far & near - & how she didn't see any way but to build an extra to house them -

Well I am glad you had a nice time - & wish every girl & boy in all the land had just as happy a time. But you must remember after too, how many many more jolly folks there are who are suffering for enough to eat & drink & keep warm - even of the coarsest & homeliest kind - we should try & think & feel for those who have less than we do - rather than be longing for the more & better things a few people have, than we do - How I should love to have been there at your little party in your little parlour -

- And Aunt Mary tells me too how nice you both have learned in dancing - I am glad she thinks best for you both to attend another term - because that will get you thoroughly familiar with all the rules not only of dancing of polite manner - & I hope you will not forget a single nice thing she would teach you

Wasn't little darling Gula's Quaker doll visitation cunning?
Do tell me what she said about it - when she first saw it - and Dannie I had one sent to little Annie, just like it - and wout she chatter over it, with her little bright eyes, like a black bird - and so little Susie D. get one too - the three truest little girl nieces all round -

Now dear Louisa & Dannie
- you must write letters to all the dear friends you thought of you so lovingly on Christmas and thank them for their presents - & tell them you hope to grow up to be worthy of all their kind regard - even the smallest token of love - is worth ever & ever so much - for many times the friends who have least money & give us the least valuable presents, in cash - are the best & truest friends to us really - So don't make the mistake to think those love you best whose presents cost the money - it is the fact that our friends remember us & send us a token of their love - if it is no more than a kind word - that makes our happines - Well - I am so glad you two young people try to make each other happy - as well expand ma & Aunt May - & all around - for it is by trying to make those around us happy that we really make ourselves happy Appetitions of your Aunt with a Hobbs here just to all Susan B Anthony
