July 19, 1898-

My dear young friend
Juliet S. Crossett

Here I find your lovely invitation to be present at your commencement - ment exercises June 22^d - not only not accepted, but not even acknowledged! +

That it should rise to my view this A.M. after the lovely crowd of girls that were with us last evening - seems a happy incident - one that helps me to ask if you will not be one of the first class of girls to enter the open doors of our Rochester University? - Of course we are ^{not} positive^{ly} certain that they will open this year - but we hope they will,
- and ^{that} the trustees will be moved to waive their demand for $100,000 - before admitting the girls!!

I am sure you must have had a nice time - - If only the laws of matter would admit a body to be in two places at the same time - I should be able to accept a great many of the invitations that come to me from all quarters -

Well - to whatever college you go - I am sure you will do well your part - every time - and thus prove yourself the worthy daughter of your devoted mother & father - thus trusting - and with a great deal of love to your dear sister - as well as parents - & yourself ever sincerely & affectionately

Susan B. Anthony
