The importance of the Jim Crow Draft cannot be overemphasized. The fate of Negro youth for generations ranges in the balance during the next few weeks.

Write, wire or telephone your two senators and your congressman. A group of National Negro Exposition physicians, who have been working on this draft for months, have sent the following letter to their friends in both houses of Congress.

This group held a dinner and Fez Night at Clarissa Branch, Y.W.C.A. recently. They will play for Douglass Day Celebration.

Human Relations Meet At Fisk U.
Nation's Capital

By Louis L. Hackett

The U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C., November 30, 1948

The nation's law-made capital is in the midst of another session which promises to be as action-packed as ever. The Senate, under the leadership of President Harry S. Truman, has been busy with a number of important bills, including those relating to national defense, labor relations, and civil rights.

One of the most significant developments of recent days has been the Senate's enactment of a bill to extend the authority of the President to use the military in case of civil unrest. The bill, sponsored by Senator John F. Kennedy, D-Mass., was approved by a vote of 66 to 24, with 18 abstentions.

The measure, which had previously been approved by the House, authorizes the President to use the armed forces to maintain order in any state or district where he deems it necessary to prevent violence or disorder.

Another major bill that has been enacted is the Civil Rights Bill, which extends the coverage of the Civil Rights Act of 1960 to include all citizens, regardless of race, color, or national origin. The bill was approved by a vote of 72 to 12, with 18 abstentions.

Other important legislation that has been enacted includes a bill to extend the life of the Atomic Energy Commission, a bill to provide for the establishment of a national health insurance program, and a bill to establish a national parks system.

In other news, the Senate has confirmed the appointment of Judge Earl Warren as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and has confirmed the appointment of Judge John J. Parker as Secretary of Agriculture.

ARBOR BRIEFS

Robert Morris, reporter for the Chicago American, tells the story of Mrs. John Morris, who is in the studio this week. Mrs. Morris is the mother of the Morris children, who are members of the University of Michigan marching band. She told us that she has no housing problems, nor does she have any worries about her children's future. The Morris family is united and strong, and they are ready to face any challenge that comes their way. Mrs. Morris is a strong and caring mother, who is proud of her children and their accomplishments. She is a true inspiration to all who know her. We wish her and her family all the best in the future.

Strait From The Shoulder
By David Blake

After the recent Supreme Court decision concerning the right of women to have an abortion, there has been a lot of discussion about the rights of women. The women's rights movement has been gaining momentum, and there are now more women in positions of power than ever before. This is a positive development, as it is important for women to have a say in the decisions that affect their lives. Women should be able to make their own choices, and they should not be forced into situations that they do not want to be in. It is important for society to support women and to ensure that they have the resources they need to be able to make their own choices.

Father's Day Granted Dads by Mother in 1910

For many years, Father's Day was not celebrated in the United States. However, in 1910, it was granted to fathers by mothers. This was a significant development, as it recognized the important role that fathers play in the family. Fathers are often the primary breadwinners, and they are responsible for providing for their families. They are also the ones who teach their children important values, and they are the ones who are there to support their children in times of need. It is important for society to recognize the important role that fathers play in the family, and to ensure that they have the resources they need to be able to fulfill their responsibilities.
